Chapter 1 by Fellinious

Alternate future of the world 1945

On september 1st 1945 Operation unthinkable happens, causing the allied powers to invade the soviet union and stop communism from expanding, The united states discovered nuclear weapons by this time, as you saw in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and the U.S had around 12,200,000 million people in the combined army. the USSR not being apply to supply them, and it would be extremely unlikely that the Vietnam war, or the Korean war would of ever happened, and the world would be more capitalist. The United States would drop one last atomic bomb on Leningrad, and the USSR would surrender, losing hundreds of millions of population. World war 2 would officially end September 9th 1954, resulting in the death of 140+ million people, and mostly U.S and Soviet soldiers, and citizens who were killed with the atomic bomb, the USSR would be gone, and Russia would be a capitalist country, and they would not inherit the Military from the Soviet Union, and the U.S would be a country with an even bigger nuclear arsenal then today, and Russia would either be a third world country, or split into multiple different nations, this is just my theory on what would happen.
